A Ray of Hope

On the arrival of that moment truth is now transpired, All those who endeavoured in favour of you have won and are to be guerdoned.

Those birds have flown away leaving us all alone,
The seeds of hope that they planted are now blooming here.

Though Mother Nature is performing a hard reset with God's grace it is growing, It eagerly awaits for the moment when you will shower blessing.

The fragrance is now spread everywhere it has become an apple of everyone's eye, It's now a long desired wish to celebrate just waiting for your holy presence.
